Former Premier Lloyd George Stresses Natural Cooperation.

IN FIGHTING MOOD

Delivers Address Before Leaders of National Liberal Party

London, Oct. 25.—In a fighting speech before leaders of the National Liberal party, former premier Lloyd George, today, brought the United States into the British political campaign as an issue. At the same time he appealed for national unity as the best means of extricating the nation from post war difficulties.

The former premier's speech was delivered at the Victoria hotel, in this city.

"There must be closest Anglo-American cooperation in order to insure lasting peace in the world," declared the former premier.

Lloyd George demanded that the British war debt to the United States be paid in full. He indicated that if he is returned to power, it will be one of his policies to work for warmer and closer relations between Britain and the United States.

"But the interests of the country must come first," continued Lloyd George. "We must put aside personal resentment over the treatment we have received. Britain must come first and party last. Our policy is one of national unity and extrication of the country from the difficulties that followed the war."

The premier was frequently interrupted by applause. He was in fighting form and spoke in a vigorous voice emphasizing his points by waving a clenched fist.

"As regards reparations we must not press Germany beyond her ability to pay, but the sacrifices must not fall upon Great Britain alone."

"If the new government departs from our policy it will not be a British policy."

Lloyd George paid his compliments to his Tory and Laborite foes as follows:

"We passed the rocks from the open sea and then a section of the crew seized the ship. They were subalterns who wanted to be captains. The perils are not yet over and the conservatives cannot defend the nation's interests alone. It is our duty to see that there is no blunder."

"I am ready to support any ministry serving the interests of Britain."

CHALLENGE HURLED AT VIC. DONAHEY

Newark, O., Oct. 25.—Carmi A. Thompson, Republican candidate for governor, in a speech here, accused Vic Donahey, the Democratic nominee, of "deliberately and purposely seeking to deceive the people of Ohio" on the question of state tax levy increases.

Thompson declared Donahey in a speech at Celina said the state levy jumped from 45 of a mill to 4.175 mills under the administration of Governor Davis, whereas most of this increase, he said, took place under the last term of former Governor Cox. The only increase under Davis, Thompson said, were for buildings at universities and state institutions and for the soldier bonus fund, and he challenged Donahey to state which of these he would have vetoed.

BRITAIN'S NEW TORY CABINET TAKES OFFICE

Andrew Bonar Law Ministry Assumes Reins—Parliament Dissolved

LABOR NOT PLEASED

Over Half Cabinet Members are Peers—Laborites Critical.

London, Oct. 25.—Great Britain's new Tory cabinet, headed by Premier Andrew Bonar Law, formally took office today and began to function. At the same time the privy council issued a proclamation dissolving parliament thus paving the way for a general election on November 15.

Ministers of the old and the new cabinets went to Buckingham Palace this morning where they were cordially greeted by King George. The old ministers turned over their seals of office which the new ministers accepted.

This ceremony officially placed the Law cabinet in power. After the king had congratulated the retiring ministers upon their faithful service and expressed the hope that the new cabinet would be successful in solving problems confronting the nation the audience ended.

King George, who was called to London by the cabinet crisis last week plans to return to Sandringham Castle this evening to complete his holiday.

The fact that about half the members of the new cabinet are peers is causing considerable criticism especially among the laborites who heaped the Tories overthrew the Lloyd George ministry. The Tory "die hards" who originated the fight against Lloyd George in the House of Commons, did not get much satisfaction for their pains. Only one Tory "die hard" is in the new cabinet—Lord Salisbury—who succeeds Earl Balfour as lord minister of the cabinet.

Lord Curzon retains his portfolio as foreign secretary.

WOMAN ACCUSED OF BEING WIFE OF TWO EX-SOLDIERS

Va., for arraignment.

The woman is said to have first married Paul Anderson, an ex-service man at Washington, D. C., who for the loss of a leg was receiving compensation of $12 a month. Later she left him going to Wellsburg, where she married Major McKinley Harris, who also had lost a leg in the world war and was drawing $152 a month compensation.

Each husband was ignorant of the existence of the other until Anderson came here hunting his wife and found her through the assistance of a detective.

UNWRITTEN LAW USED BY DEFENSE

M'COOK FIELD WILL BE WORLD'S AVIATION CENTER

Flying Field Will Remain In Dayton and is to Become Greatest of Kind Anywhere According to Present Plans Just Announced.

Dayton, O., Oct. 25.—With definite announcement today that McCook Field is to remain in or near Dayton, came announcement that the government will make this field the greatest aviation center in the world.

Announcement was made by Frederick B. Patterson, president of the National Cash Register Company, who with a score of other prominent Daytonians, have been working for six months to attain this goal.

It was announced that in establishing the great aviation center the government will expend ten millions on plants and equipment and that the annual payroll will range from two to five millions more.

The new field includes part of the Miami Valley Conservancy district and six farms, laying adjacent to Wilbur Wright Field, built in 1917.

It is proposed to make the new flying field a rival of West Point for the army and of Annapolis for the navy.

Location of the field will be a memorial to Wright Brothers who gave the science of aviation to the world for the new field will include the original Wright flying field and experimental station.

The huge air academy was sought by thirty other cities. Negotiations were undertaken immediately after the death of John H. Patterson to make this project secure for Dayton. It has been his often expressed wish, a being the most important thing that Dayton could do.

Detroit was one of the contenders for the new field as was Aberdeen Md. From two to five thousand skilled mechanics will be employed.

Plans for financing the project which calls for an immediate expenditure of $265,000 will be discussed tonight.

WIFE-BEATER IS BEATEN BY JUDGE

Magistrate Edward Burke, also an Alderman, of Pittston, Pa., heard the charges of wife beating against Anthony Azakas, and, after finding him guilty, left the bench and, walloped Anthony in the eye. Anthony took the count but Judge Burke dragged him to his feet and knocked him down again.

"Now we'll see how he likes it," he said and resumed his judicial poise. His unique legal decision proved exceedingly popular.

HOUGH IS UPHELD BY FORMER SOLDIERS

Columbus, Ohio, Oct. 25.—"The gratuitous insult by Governor Cox to one of Ohio's most distinguished heroes of the world war will not only be resented by the thousands of former service men of Ohio, but also by all loyal citizens of the state who appreciate the sacrifice and conspicuous service of Colonel Hough on the battle fields of France," declared "Hank" Gowdy, widely known local baseball player, member of the Boston Braves, commenting on the request made by former Governor Cox that State Supreme Judge Hough be declared candidate for reelection because he voted to uphold the emergency clause of the Dunn act providing for reorganization of state departments.

"Judge Hough is the idol of the fighting men of the great conflict," continued Gowdy. "He was loyal and fearless on the firing line, his conduct and service on the bench are of the same high character and the patriotic men and women of Ohio will rebuke the brutal and unwarranted attack of Governor Cox and other politicians of his type upon a man like Judge Hough," said Gowdy.

ALLIES MAY TAKE ACTION TO AVERT GERMAN COLLAPSE

Britain Modifies Position—Commission to Leave For Berlin.

Paris, Oct. 25.—The entire reparations commission, including Roland D. Boyden, American unofficial representative, and Colonel James A. Leavelle, Jr., acting in a similar capacity with the guarantees commission, will leave for Berlin Sunday to confer with Chancellor Wirth and other German cabinet members on the financial crisis in Germany and the threatened total collapse of the mark.

The opinion of all the members of the commission was that unless radical measures were taken to stop the depreciation of the mark the allied powers would be faced with a German financial collapse.

Members of the body said the question of how much Germany could pay within the next two years, as well as that relating to deliveries of merchandise, might be settled as a result of the Berlin trip. Both the French and British reparations schemes will remain in suspense until the Berlin investigation is completed, although one of the objects of the trip, it is stated, will be to impose further financial restrictions upon Germany.

The unanimous decision to go to Berlin was taken after Sir John Bradbury had definitely made known that he, on behalf of Great Britain, was willing to vote to declare Germany in voluntary default of her agreement should she refuse to carry out within a reasonable time requests for the internal reforms which the commission will make in Berlin.

This was a big surprise to the reparations commission, since it was a decided concession to the French viewpoint. Heretofore, the British representatives had refused to declare Germany in default under any conditions and also had declined to be a party to any move which might be construed as interfering with Germany's internal affairs.

The gravest reports concerning the financial condition in Germany have reached the reparations commission during the last two days. These reports had much to do with the decision of the commission to proceed to Berlin.

Story of New Jersey Crime Told By Woman Verified

Mysterious Woman Eye-Witness of Murder of Dr. Hall Tells What She Witnessed—Care Taker Corroborates Her Tale.

New Brunswick, N. J., Oct. 25.—The story of Mrs. Jane Gibson, mysterious woman eye witness of the murder of Dr. Edward W. Hall, rector of the Church of St. John the Evangelist, and the choir singer, Mrs. James Mills, was corroborated today by Mrs. Martin Sultz, wife of the caretaker of the Phillips farm where the bodies were found Sept. 13.

Both witnesses fixed the time of the shooting at between 9:30 and 10 o'clock on the night of Thursday, Sept. 14. Their stories tally as to the agonized cries of one of the two women on the scene, who begged for mercy and uttered the name of a man as the shooting began.

The double stories told by these two women may force deputy Attorney General Wilbur A. Mott to make an early arrest of a man and a woman, both of whom have been previously mentioned in connection with the case.

Mrs. Jane Gibson, widow-farmer today admitted to International News Service that she is the mysterious eye witness of the Hall-Mills murders. At her very humble home on Hamilton road she told of her presence on the Phillips farm off Dupessey lane at the time Dr. Edward Wheeler Hall and Mrs. Eleanor Mills were killed more than five weeks ago.

"Yes, I was there. I kept it all to myself for a long time because I felt the minister and Mrs. Mills got what they deserved for being there on that spot at that hour."

"Well, about two weeks ago I went to the authorities and told them about it. I went for certain reasons. Yes, they've known about it that long."

It was believed that Mrs. Gibson was prompted in telling her story to clear Clifford Hayes, the youth who was under arrest, falsely charged with knowledge of the crime.

"I did hear Mrs. Mills call out the first name of a man who has been under suspicion all along in this case," Mrs. Gibson continued.

"No, it was not at nine o'clock but later. The moon was out and small but it was not light enough to distinguish faces."

At this point in her story Mrs. Gibson had the reporter stand about 20 feet in front of an automobile light to see if the reporter was distinguishable at that distance. This act pointed to the possibility that there was an automobile at the scene of the murder by the rays of which Mrs. Gibson saw the crime. She would not verify this possibility.

"No, Rev. Hall and Mrs. Mills were not enticed to the scene by the murderers," Mrs. Gibson said. "They were found there."

Note: This is the most important part of Mrs. Gibson's story for it clears up many theories that have been advanced suggesting that the pair were kidnapped and carried to the crab apple tree or that they were killed elsewhere and their bodies brought to the spot.

GREEK REFUGEES ARE MENACED BY BANDS OF TURKS

Athens, Oct. 25.—Attacks by roving bands of Turkish irregulars today are adding fresh horrors to the already hurricane of agony which is sweeping the vast hordes of Greek and Armenian refugees who are crowding Thracian ports imploring the Greek and allied authorities to get them to safety.

LIQUOR RULING ON ALL FOREIGN SHIPS SCRAPPED

Government Sidetracks Daugherty's Decision On Booze Question.

AWAIT COURT ACTION

Hold Off Enforcement Until Supreme Court Makes Announcement.

Washington, Oct. 25.—The government today sidetracked, to all practical purposes, Attorney General Daugherty's ruling outlawing liquor in American waters.

Until the United States Supreme Court hands down a decision in the whole matter, enforcement of the Daugherty mandate, as it effects foreign vessels, is to be suspended. Foreign ship owners were granted an indefinite stay by the treasury department which is charged with enforcement of the ruling.

Counsel for foreign and domestic shipping lines today carried their appeal for relief to the United States Supreme Court. Justice Brandeis, supervising justice for the New York district, was appealed to for relief from the decision if Judge Learned Hand in New York, which denied the injunction asked by ship owners. Solicitor General Beck and District Attorney William Hayward represented the government and asked that the case be expedited.

Agreement was reached that argument will be heard soon after Nov. 13 when the Supreme Court reconvenes for rendering opinions.

The ship owners told a sad story to government officials, and found ready listeners among treasury officials charged with enforcing the Daugherty opinion.

They pictured enormous losses under the new dry order. Actual facts of rebellion among ship crews, and riots in recruiting of crews before voyages, arising out of the dry edict, were forcefully presented by lawyers for the foreign ship lines.

The Olympic, due to sail today from Southampton, was threatened with great loss as was the Carmania, scheduled to sail tomorrow from Liverpool because ship crews could not be recruited according to F. B. Lord, counsel for the Cunard and Anchor lines.

The tale of the foreign lines was reported a hundred fold in the briefs submitted to Secretary of the Treasury Mellon.

It developed today that just before the new regulations were to be promulgated, attorneys for the foreign ship lines breezed into Secretary Mellon's office, five minutes before the cabinet meeting with their representations, yesterday, and the whole argument was thrown into the cabinet meeting.

The question of making a statement of governmental policy was up to Attorney General Daugherty and Secretary Mellon today. They were in conference for some time over the question and later it was expected some authoritative announcement would be forthcoming from the treasury department, setting forth the fact that the Daugherty ruling virtually had been "scrapped." A formal statement drawn last night was withheld pending approval by President Harding today.

DOUGHERTY RAPS CARMICHAEL

Napoleon, O., Oct. 25.—Vic Donahey, Democratic candidate for governor, in an address here, charged his Republican opponent, Carmi A. Thompson, with an attempt to deceive the voters when in his primary campaign he declared he never owned a share of coal or steel stock. Donahey declared that not only did Thompson have steel and coal interests, but operators at the head of coal companies capitalized at more than $23,000,000 financed his campaign on the expectation of favors after Thompson's election. He warned against a flood of Republican funds near the close of the campaign, saying, however, this didn't alarm him, because he had confidence the "common people can not be deceived, rushed or bought."

Donahey gave a list of men and their various coal and iron companies who, he alleged, furnished most of Thompson's primary money.

The huge air academy was sought by thirty other cities. Negotiations were undertaken immediately after the death of John H. Patterson to make this project secure for Dayton, it having been his often expressed wish, as being the most important thing that Dayton could do.

Detroit was one of the contenders for the new field as was Aberdeen Md. From two to five thousand skilled mechanics will be employed.

Plans for financing the project which calls for an immediate expenditure of $265,000 will be discussed tonight.

ALLIES MAY TAKE ACTION TO AVERT
GERMAN COLLAPSE

Britain Modifies Position—Commission to Leave For Berlin.

Paris, Oct. 25.—The entire reparations commission, including Roland A. Boyden, American unofficial representative, and Colonel James A. Logan, Jr., acting in a similar capacity with the guarantees commission, will leave for Berlin Sunday to confer with Chancellor Wirth and other German cabinet members on the financial crisis in Germany and the threatened collapse of the mark.

The opinion of all the members of the commission was that unless radical measures were taken to stop the depreciation of the mark the allied powers would be faced with a German financial collapse.

Members of the body said the question of how much Germany could pay within the next two years, as well as that relating to deliveries of merchandise, might be settled as a result of the Berlin trip. Both the French and British reparations schemes will remain in suspense until the Berlin investigation is completed, although one of the objects of the trip, it is stated, will be to impose further financial restrictions upon Germany.

The unanimous decision to go to Berlin was taken after Sir John Bradbury had definitely made known that he, on behalf of Great Britain, was willing to vote to declare Germany in voluntary default of her agreement should she refuse to carry out within a reasonable time requests for the internal reforms which the commission will make in Berlin.

This was a big surprise to the reparations commission, since it was a decided concession to the French viewpoint. Heretofore, the British representatives had refused to declare Germany in default under any conditions and also had declined to be a party to any move which might be construed as interfering with Germany's internal affairs.

The gravest reports concerning the financial condition in Germany have reached the reparations commission during the last two days. These reports had much to do with the decision of the commission to proceed to Berlin.

ROUGH IS UPHELD
BY FORMER SOLDIERS

Columbus, Ohio, Oct. 25.—"The gratuitous insult by Governor Cox to one of Ohio's most distinguished heroes of the world war will not only be resented by the thousands of former service men of Ohio, but also by all loyal citizens of the state who appreciate the sacrifice and conspicuous service of Colonel Hough on the battle fields of France," declared "Hank" Gowdy, widely known local baseball player, member of the Boston Braves, commenting on the request made by former Governor Cox that State Supreme Judge Hough be removed from office because he voted to uphold the emergency clause of the Dupa act providing for reorganization of state departments.

"Judge Hough is the idol of the fighting men of the great conflict," continued Gowdy. "He was loyal and fearless on the firing line, his conduct and service on the bench are of the same high character and the patriotic men and women of Ohio will rebuke the brutal and unwarranted attack of Governor Cox and other politicians of his type upon a man like Judge Hough," said Gowdy.

UNWRITTEN LAW
USED BY DEFENSE

Hackensack, N. J., Oct. 25.—Arguments to the jury were begun today in the trial of George Cline, moving picture director, Charles Scullion his brother in law and Miss Alice Thornton, 19 year old moving picture actress, charged with slaying "Jack" Bergin, a "stunt" moving picture actor.

The defense rested its case after the plea of unwritten law had been entered. It was expected that the case would go to the jury later in the day.

Bergin was shot in the Cline home at Edgewater, N. J., after he confessed to having intimate relations with Mrs. Cline.

P. R. R. DIVIDEND INCREASED
Philadelphia, Oct. 25.—Directors of the Pennsylvania railroad today increased the quarterly dividend on the common stock from 1 to 1 1/2 per cent. The 1 per cent dividend has been paid since May 1921.

New York, Oct. 25.—Following the increase in dividend rate Pennsylvania rose 3-4 to 49 1/4, equalling its previous high for the year.

Story of New Jersey Crime
Told By Woman Verified

Mysterious Woman Eye-Witness of Murder of Dr. Hall Tells What She Witnessed—Care Taker Corroborates Her Tale.

New Brunswick, N. J., Oct. 25.—The story of Mrs. Jane Gibson, mysterious woman eye witness of the murder of Dr. Edward W. Hall, rector of the Church of St. John the Evangelist, and the choir singer, Mrs. James Mills, was corroborated today by Mrs. Martin Sultz, wife of the caretaker of the Phillips farm where the bodies were found Sept. 13.

Both witnesses fixed the time of the shooting at between 9:30 and 10 o'clock on the night of Thursday, Sept. 14. Their stories tally as to the agonized cries of one of the two women on the scene, who begged for mercy and uttered the name of a man as the shooting began.

The double stories told by these two women may force deputy Attorney General Wilbur A. Mott to make an early arrest of a man and a woman, both of whom have been previously mentioned in connection with the case.

Mrs. Jane Gibson, widow-farmer today admitted to International News Service that she is the mysterious eye witness of the Hall-Mills murders. At her very humble home on Hamilton road she told of her presence on the Phillips farm at Dorsey lane at the time Dr. Edward Wheeler Hall and Mrs. Eleanor Mills were killed more than five weeks ago.

"Yes, I was there. I kept it all to myself for a long time because I felt the minister and Mrs. Mills got what they deserved for being there on that spot at that hour."

"Well, about two weeks ago I went to the authorities and told them about it. I went for certain reasons. Yes, they've known about it that long."

It was believed that Mrs. Gibson was prompted in telling her story to clear Clifford Hayes, the youth who was under arrest, falsely charged with knowledge of the crime.

"I did hear Mrs. Mills call out the first name of a man who has been under suspicion all along in this case," Mrs. Gibson continued.

"No, it was not at nine o'clock but later. The moon was out and small but it was not light enough to distinguish faces."

At this point in her story Mrs. Gibson had the reporter stand about 20 feet in front of an automobile light to see if the reporter was distinguishable at that distance. This act pointed to the possibility that there was an automobile at the scene of the murder by the rays of which Mrs. Gibson saw the crime. She would not verify this possibility.

"No, Rev. Hall and Mrs. Mills were not noticed to the scene by the murderers," Mrs. Gibson said. "They were found there."

Note: This is the most important part of Mrs. Gibson's story for it clears up many theories that have been advanced suggesting that the pair were kidnapped and carried to the crab apple tree or that they were killed elsewhere and their bodies brought to the spot.

Agreement was reached that argument will be heard soon after No. 13 when the Supreme Court reconvenes for rendering opinions.

The ship owners told a sad story to government officials, and found ready listeners among treasury officials charged with enforcing the Daugherty opinion.

They pictured enormous losses under the new dry order. Actual facts of rebellion among ship crews, and riots in recruiting of crews before voyages, arising out of the dry edict, were forcefully presented by lawyers for the foreign ship lines.

The Olympic, due to sail today from Southampton, was threatened with great loss as was the Carmania, scheduled to sail tomorrow from Liverpool because ship crews could not be recruited according to F. B. Lord, counsel for the Cunard and Anchor lines.

The tale of the foreign lines was reported a hundred fold in the briefs submitted to Secretary of the Treasury Mellon.

It developed today that just before the new regulations were to be promulgated, attorneys for the foreign ship lines breezed into Secretary Mellon's office, five minutes before the cabinet meeting with their representations, yesterday, and the whole argument was thrown into the cabinet meting.

The question of making a statement of governmental policy was up to Attorney General Daugherty and Secretary Mellon today. They were in conference for some time over the question and later it was expected some authoritative announcement would be forthcoming from the treasury department, setting forth the fact that the Daugherty ruling virtually had been "scrapped." A formal statement drawn last night was withheld pending approval by President Harding today.

Athens, Oct. 25.—Attacks by roving bands of Turkish irregulars today are adding fresh horrors to the already hurricane of agony which is sweeping the vast hordes of Greek and Armenian refugees who are crowding Thracian ports imploring the Greek and allied authorities to get them to safety.

Prompt evacuation by the fugitive Christians is being prevented by these attacks.

Owing to famine conditions in Greece and the inability of the government to feed the refugees, the National Bank of Greece has extended a loan of 10,000,000 drachmas to buy food.

LIQUOR RULING
ON ALL FOREIGN
SHIPS SCRAPPED

Government Sidetracks Daugherty's Decision On Booze Question.

AWAIT COURT ACTION

Hold Off Enforcement Until Supreme Court Makes Announcement.

Washington, Oct. 25.—The government today sidetracked, to all practical purposes, Attorney General Daugherty's ruling outlawing liquor in American waters.

Until the United States Supreme Court hands down a decision in the whole matter, enforcement of the Daugherty mandate, as it effects foreign vessels, is to be suspended. Foreign ship owners were granted an indefinite stay by the treasury department which is charged with enforcement of the ruling.

Counsel for foreign and domestic shipping lines today carried their appeal for relief to the United States Supreme Court. Justice Brandeis, supervising justice for the New York district, was appealed to for relief from the decision if Judge Learned Hand in New York, which denied the injunction asked by ship owners. Solicitor General Beck and District Attorney William Hayward represented the government and asked that the case be expedited.

Agreement was reached that argument will be heard soon after No. 13 when the Supreme Court reconvenes for rendering opinions.

The ship owners told a sad story to government officials, and found ready listeners among treasury officials charged with enforcing the Daugherty opinion.

They pictured enormous losses under the new dry order. Actual facts of rebellion among ship crews, and riots in recruiting of crews before voyages, arising out of the dry edict, were forcefully presented by lawyers for the foreign ship lines.

DONAHEY RAPS
CARM! THOMPSON

Napoleon, O., Oct. 25.—Vic Donahey, Democratic candidate for governor, in an address here, charged his Republican opponent, Carmi A. Thompson, with an attempt to deceive the voters when in his primary campaign he declared he never owned a share of coal or steel stock. Donahey declared that not only did Thompson have steel and coal interests, but operators at the head of coal companies capitalized at more than $23,000,000 financed his campaign on the expectation of favors after Thompson's election. He warned against a flood of Republican funds near the close of the campaign, saying, however, this didn't alarm him, because he had confidence the "common people can not be deceived, rushed or bought."

Donahey gave a list of men and their various coal and iron companies who, he alleged, furnished most of Thompson's primary money.

Ohio Wesleyan—the Character Moulder

Preparation of young men and women for life as well as occupation has been a steadfast policy of Ohio Wesleyan since 1842. She has always recognized and met the great responsibility that rests upon a University in directing its students through the four critical and formative years of life. Ohio Wesleyan has so consistently taught straight living as well as straight thinking that she has often been called "The Character Moulder".

This valuable work can only be continued if friends of the University will provide funds to construct necessary buildings and to properly pay the faculty of the University and thereby attract the highest type of instruction talent to Ohio Wesleyan. The University is as strong as its faculty. By training the minds of the young men and women of today, University professors are moulding the future of the Nation. The pay of these national character moulders scarcely equals that of iron moulders in the foundry. Is it a square deal?

Ohio Wesleyan—the Character Moulder

Preparation of young men and women for life as well as occupation has been a steadfast policy of Ohio Wesleyan since 1842. She has always recognized and met the great responsibility that rests upon a University in directing its students through the four critical and formative years of life. Ohio Wesleyan has so consistently taught straight living as well as straight thinking that she has often been called "The Character Moulder".

This valuable work can only be continued if friends of the University will provide funds to construct necessary buildings and to properly pay the faculty of the University and thereby attract the highest type of instruction talent to Ohio Wesleyan. The University is as strong as its faculty. By training the minds of the young men and women of today, University professors are moulding the future of the Nation. The pay of these national character moulders scarcely equals that of iron moulders in the foundry. Is it a square deal?

IMPROVEMENTS ARE MADE BY B. & O. AT LOCAL TRACKS

Long-felt improvements and repairs by the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad being put in effect here by a squad of workmen this week.

In answer to the appeal of city officials the road has installed an iron bumper at the end of the freight house switch which comes to the edge of sidewalk on South Detroit street and which has always been a source of danger from cars running off the tracks.

The demand that a bumper be placed at the end of the tracks was started after a cut of freight cars ran off the end of the unprotected tracks and dashed across the street, striking and demolishing an automobile from which the occupant escaped miraculously without injury. The strike situation and other troubles delayed the work being done, say railroad officials.

Although there are two sidings which end at the edge of the sidewalk next to the freight depot, only one has so far been protected with a bumper. Officials believe a dangerous condition will be eliminated with work started by section men Wednesday morning to repair the crossing of the B. & O. at South Detroit Street.

The condition of the crossing west of the street car tracks has been such that motorists going south frequently turn across the crossing on the east side in order to avoid the bump, thus creating dangerous possibilities of a collision. City officials took up the situation and the repair work is expected to eliminate the condition.

DAVIS AND SHIELDS NAMED FOR POST

Washington, Oct. 25.—Two names are understood to be foremost today in President Harding's mind in connection with the appointment of a successor to Associate Justice William R. Day of the U. S. supreme court.

Shields is considered one of the leading legal lights of the south. He was for some years presiding justice of the supreme court of Tennessee. He was an "irreconcilable" on the league of nations fight and a warm personal friend of the president's in the senate.

John W. Davis was ambassador to Great Britain under Woodrow Wilson, and is nationally and internationally known as a lawyer. He received a few votes for the Democratic nomination for the presidency in San Francisco in 1920 and has been considered a likely candidate in 1924.

IMPROVEMENTS ARE MADE BY B. & O. AT LOCAL TRACKS

Long-felt improvements and repairs by the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad being put in effect here by a squad of workmen this week.

In answer to the appeal of city officials, the road has installed an iron bumper at the end of the freight house switch which comes to the edge of sidewalk on South Detroit street and which has always been a source of danger from cars running off the tracks.

The demand that a bumper be placed at the end of the tracks was started after a cut of freight cars ran off the end of the unprotected tracks and dashed across the street, striking and demolishing an automobile from which the occupant escape miraculously without injury.

The strike situation and other troubles delayed the work being done, say railroad officials.

Although there are two sidings which end at the edge of the sidewalk next to the freight depot, only one has so far been protected with a bumper. Officials believe a dangerous condition will be eliminated with work started by section men Wednesday morning to repair the crossing of the B. & O. at South Detroit Street.

The condition of the crossing west of the street car tracks has been such that motorists going south frequently turn across the crossing on the east side in order to avoid the bump, thus creating dangerous possibilities of a collision. City officials took up the situation and the repair work is expected to eliminate the condition.

DAVIS AND SHIELDS NAMED FOR POST

Washington, Oct. 25.—Two names are understood to be foremost today in President Harding's mind in connection with the appointment of a successor to Associate Justice William R. Day of the U. S. supreme court.

Shields is considered one of the leading legal lights of the south. He was for some years presiding justice of the supreme court of Tennessee. He was an "irreconcilable" on the league of nations fight and a warm personal friend of the president's in the senate.

John W. Davis was ambassador to Great Britain under Woodrow Wilson, and is nationally and internationally known as a lawyer. He received a few votes for the Democratic nomination for the presidency in San Francisco in 1920 and has been considered a likely candidate in 1924.

WASH KIDNEYS IF THEY HURT

Take Salts to flush Kidneys if Back pains you or Bladder bothers.

Flush your kidneys with salts occasionally, says a noted authority, who tells us that too much meat and rich food may form uric acid, which almost paralyzes the kidneys in their efforts to expel it from the blood. They become sluggish and weaken; then you suffer with a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sours, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine gets cloudy, full of sediment, the channels often get sore and irritated, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night.

To help neutralize these irritating acids, to cleanse the kidneys and flush out the body's urinous waste, get four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy here; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days, and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate sluggish kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer irritates, thus often ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure and makes a delightful effervescent lithia water drink.

DEMOCRACY A BRAKE ON THE WHEELS OF PROGRESS.

L. M. Earl, as presiding officer of a Republican convention at Idaho Falls, Idaho, made a stirring address in the course of which he said: "The Democratic party is a party of free trade or it is nothing. It is a party without fixed ideas; it is a party of theorists. I sometimes think that if the Republican party should come to a standstill for two or three years, Democracy would be without an excuse for existence. Its only function is to oppose movement. It is simply a brake on the wheels of progress. Whenever the Republicans move in any direction the Democratic brake is immediately applied. As a negative Democracy is profoundly perfect; as a positive force it is an utter failure. Experience proves that progress in politics, as well as other things, is a natural law; hence we find Democracy, despite its best efforts, continually advancing, so that this year it is camped on ground occupied by Republicans years before. Whatever Republicans say ought to be, Democrats vociferate never shall be, but when that thing is accomplished the Republicans move on to another frontier post, the Democrats intrench themselves on the abandoned premises and there declare the world must pause."

WE'LL DO OUR DUTY AS WE SEE IT.

The persistence with which international sentimentalists urge the present administration to turn to international paternalism bespeaks a misconception of government under American institutions that is staggering. This misconception first assumed alarming proportions when the Wilson regime sought, through the League of Nations, to commit America to a program that would virtually have destroyed its autonomy and to induce it to assume obligations that would have tied the hands of future generations in the conduct of the nation's affairs. And this same misconception is now responsible for agitation for America's participation in the Near East and for cancellation of foreign debts. The sentimentalists who are pressing along these lines seem to think that America's part in the international scheme of things is to bear the burdens of other nations and to assume the costly task of solving the problems of Europe and Asia, which the governments immediately concerned have dismally and signally failed to accomplish with centuries of effort. It is high time that these enthusiasts who apparently think that the Washington government should assume a mandate over all the earth to the extent of relieving all other nations of their burdens and could smooth out vexed and vexing economic and political situations by merely entering upon the scene and voicing its will, revise their concepts of American governmental institutions.

THE INFAMOUS I. W. W.

If you will take a map of the United States, begin at Idaho or Montana and run a pencil due west to the Pacific Ocean, then down the Pacific, then east across the southern border to Arizona and New Mexico, you will have a fairly complete chart of the part of the country where desperate measures have been taken with the I. W. W. It was, for instance, in Bisbee, Ariz., that the most famous deportation took place; in Idaho that the I. W. W. leader was hanged from a bridge by a mob; in Washington that the I. W. W.'s fired upon a veterans' parade and that their headquarters was destroyed by American Legionaries; in California that the bomb was thrown at the preparedness parade, by means of which Thomas Mooney became an international figure, and so on.

Of course, it is still active in the East, but it so far subsided after 1910 that it never has moved the population to such fear and rage as it has in the bracketed region just described. In coping with it the people of the Mountain and Pacific States sometimes have resorted to extra-legal and even to illegal methods, as did the San Francisco Vigilance Committee of 1856 in a similar effort to save civilization.

Exactly why the Wobblies have concentrated on the Far West is as inexplicable as the question of why the Ku Klux Klan finds its most fertile ground in the South. Arizona and Oregon are as far apart as any two parts of our country can be in habits of thought and customs; but they are both in the Far West, one in the Southwest and the other in the Northwest.

THE CHURCH IN THE LIFE OF THE NATION.

The church may not be the only place where men may profitably spend Sunday. Of course, it is not. Nevertheless it is one of the very best places. It has been well tried. It has been knocked about badly by slackers and by enemies. It is the target for every fellow with a chip on his shoulder or a grudge in his system. It is too narrow for some, and too broad for others.

All this is perfectly natural—in fact, inevitable—since the church is based upon spiritual principles, which are admittedly difficult to fully understand, let alone to follow.

In spite of all this the church is a mighty force in the nation for keeping people toned up to high levels of thinking and acting. It has kept the affairs of the Moral Governor before the attention of the people. It has been the force behind the building of homes for orphans, unfortunates, deficient, demented, and aged. It has always been the backer, and often the starter of philanthropic enterprises. The church is easy to slam and hard to replace. Kick if you like; but you will be wiser and happier to back it.—Theodore Roosevelt.

WHY THEY CALL OURS A "SELF GOVERNMENT"

1902--Twenty Years Ago--1922

On Saturday the Antioch College football team came to Xenia to get revenge for the defeat administered to them by the High School boys at Yellow Springs early in the season. The game was early in the season. The game was forfeited to Xenia by the score of 6 to 0.

Republican rallies were held Saturday night at Yellow Springs, Jamestown and Spring Valley, splendid arguments being made at the places by some of the best speakers in the country.

The Cedarville College football team defeated the Springfield High School team last Saturday by a score of 5 to 0 on Cedarville grounds.

The closing races of the season were given by the Xenia Driving Club yesterday afternoon, and a large crowd was present at the fairgrounds and witnessed some splendid events.

HORSEADISH BLEACH

Everyone knows that horseadish is the most effective complexion bleach yet very few know how it should be made. It sounds so dangerous to experiment with!

As a matter of fact it is perfectly simple. All you do is scrape a teaspoonful of horseradish into a cup of sour milk and let it stand six hours before you use it. It can stand longer, so if you do not use the entire cupful made bleach to the expensive and complicated preparations purchased ready made. Not all such preparations are to be trusted. Strong bleaches will dry the skin, many that are too strong will induce premature wrinkles. Honey, which is a splendid bleach and almond milk, which is both bleach and tonic are very good particularly in combination. Honey, of course must be well diluted because it is so sticky. Lemon juice is also splendid bleach but must be diluted for the face.

Discouraged—Stop the yeast cakes for a time and try other things for clearing the system. The best method is through a change in diet in which much of the starchy foods should be omitted and plenty of milk substituted.

Eat plenty green vegetables and fruit whole wheat bread and when taking cereals select those in which there is some ruffage.

Miss R. R. M.—Complete directions for coloring the hair with henna will consume too much space for printing at this time. Send a s. a. e. and have this information mailed to you.

Lillie—Bobbed hair has not lost its hold and there is every indication that it will remain in favor for a very long time to come.

Tomorrow—Misunderstood Feet.

LOCAL STORE ADDS TO FLOOR SPACE

The firm of Galloway and Cherry has recently acquired the room over the Greene County Auto Sales room, which adjoins the second floor of the company's establishment, in combination with basement first, and second floors of their original room, giving the concern approximately 15,500 square feet of floor space.

The size of the new store space is an interesting comparison with the floor space of 2,000 square feet occupied by the firm 10 years ago, and shows a substantial growth of the company.

Blackheaded Pimples Quit With S. S. S.

Why? Pimple-Poison Goes When Red-Blood-Cells Increase! S. S. S. Builds These Red-Blood-Cells.

You can be sure of this, nature has no substitute for red-blood-cells. Pimple-poison can't live in the red rivers of your blood as long as there are enough red-red-blood-cells in it. More red-blood-cells!

That is what you need when you see pimples staring at you in the mirror. Black-headed pimples are worse! Eczema is worse yet! You can try everything under the sun—you'll find only one answer, more cell-power in your blood! The tremendous results, produced by an increase in red-blood-cells is one of the A. B. C.'s of medical science. Red-cells mean clear-pure rich blood. They mean clear, ruddy, lovable complexion. They mean fed by your blood. They mean freedom forever from pimples, from the blackhead eruptions, from eczema and skin pest, from rheumatism impurities, from that tired, exhausted, run-down feeling. Red-blood-cells are the most important thing in the world to each of us. S. S. S. will build them for you. S. S. S. has been known since 1828, as one of the greatest blood-builders, blood-cleansers and system strengtheners ever produced. S. S. S. is sold at all drug stores in two sizes. The larger size bottle is the more economical.

GOING STRONG.

There is always something wrong, something fierce that threatens doom, but the country jogs along and emerges from the gloom. Uncle Sam is hard to slay, hard to smother in despair; and he trots along his way with his coat-tails in the air. Just a little while ago everything seemed on the blink, and we wept and lapped up woe as our daily food and drink. Every prospect was a frost, there would be no coal to burn, and a cord of wood would cost more than any man could earn. All the trains would cease to run, transportation would collapse; all the world seemed bleak and dun, there were tears upon our maps. Even chronic Sunny Jims shook their heads and sighed, "Alas! We can't sing our cheer-up hymns, for this crisis will not pass. We are up against it now, every day new ills appear, and the statesman beats his brow in extremity of fear." But the country jogs along, and the smiling statesmen say, "We are surely going strong, better times will come this way. There will shortly be a boom that will knock the records cold; we're emerging from the gloom, and our skies are bright as gold."

ON TRYING

Most people try too hard. I hear the phrase so many times: "But I have tried so hard." My advice is not to try or to think that you are trying—but to go ahead and do the thing you want done. You will surprise even yourself at the ease with which you accomplish things that you thought might be very difficult.

I have watched big men work. The thing that has impressed me is that they don't seem to be trying at all! They just do—that's all. And then they pass on to other and more important tasks.

The very first impression one gets from the suggestion of trying is one of failure. Whereas in the command to have the thing done, one is given initial inspiration and takes genuine pride in getting at the task in the quickest manner and doing it in the best way.

Of course, every goal we strive for isn't gained. But that isn't the important point at all. The thing that counts is the way and spirit in which we strive. Some of the happiest and most beautiful characters I know have little to show, in a material way, for all they have done.

The intense triers are usually the chronic complainers. There are few exceptions.

Ease of effort, visualization of the thing desired, and an inward faith that doesn't back-step or side-step you must embody in your make-up if you are to become one of the leaders in this world.

The more you think about your ills the faster they multiply. And in exactly the same way the more you try the harder becomes your task.

Take the example of a child. Tell it to try and do a certain thing. I will try—and in nine cases out of ten fail. But tell this same child to go ahead and do this thing for you—and in nine cases out of ten you wanted done will be done. Providing, of course, that your request was a reasonable one. In the one case the child got the impression that didn't matter as to the finished task so long as it tried. In the other case there was aroused both a desire and a certain pride, both of which seemed to tell the little mind that the thing could be done.

DEMOCRACY A BRAKE ON THE WHEELS OF PROGRESS.

L. M. Earl, as presiding officer of a Republican convention at Idaho Falls, Idaho, made a stirring address in the course of which he said: "The Democratic party is a party of free trade or it is nothing. It is a party without fixed ideas; it is a party of theorists. I sometimes think that if the Republican party should come to a standstill for two or three years, Democracy would be without an excuse for existence. Its only function is to oppose movement. It is simply a brake on the wheels of progress. Whenever the Republicans move in any direction the Democratic brake is immediately applied. As a negative Democracy is profoundly perfect; as a positive force it is an utter failure. Experience proves that progress in politics, as well as other things, is a natural law; hence we find Democracy, despite its best efforts, continually advancing, so that this year it is camped on ground occupied by Republicans years before. Whatever Republicans say ought to be, Democrats vociferate never shall be, but when that thing is accomplished the Republicans move on to another frontier post, the Democrats intrench themselves on the abandoned premises and there declare the world must pause."

WE'LL DO OUR DUTY AS WE SEE IT.

The persistence with which international sentimentalists urge the present administration to turn to international paternalism bespeaks a misconception of government under American institutions that is staggering. This misconception first assumed alarming proportions when the Wilson regime sought, through the League of Nations, to commit America to a program that would virtually have destroyed its autonomy and to induce it to assume obligations that would have tied the hands of future generations in the conduct of the nation's affairs. And this same misconception is now responsible for agitation for America's participation in the Near East and for cancellation of foreign debts. The sentimentalists who are pressing along these lines seem to think that America's part in the international scheme of things is to bear the burdens of other nations and to assume the costly task of solving the problems of Europe and Asia, which the governments immediately concerned have dismally and signally failed to accomplish with centuries of effort. It is high time that these enthusiasts who apparently think that the Washington government should assume a mandate over all the earth to the extent of relieving all other nations of their burdens and could smooth out vexed and vexing economic and political situations by merely entering upon the scene and voicing its will, revise their concepts of American governmental institutions.

THE INFAMOUS I. W. W.

If you will take a map of the United States, begin at Idaho or Montana and run a pencil due west to the Pacific Ocean, then down the Pacific, then east across the southern border to Arizona and New Mexico, you will have a fairly complete chart of the part of the country where desperate measures have been taken with the I. W. W. It was, for instance, in Bisbee, Ariz., that the most famous deportation took place; in Idaho that the I. W. W. leader was hanged from a bridge by a mob; in Washington that the I. W. W.'s fired upon a veterans' parade and that their headquarters was destroyed by American Legionaries; in California that the bomb was thrown at the preparedness parade, by means of which Thomas Mooney became an international figure, and so on.

Of course it is still active in the East, but it so far subsided after 1910 that it never has moved the population to such fear and rage as it has in the bracketed region just described. In coping with it the people of the Mountain and Pacific States sometimes have resorted to extra-legal and even to illegal methods, as did the San Francisco Vigilance Committee of 1856 in a similar effort to save civilization.

Exactly why the Wobblies have concentrated on the Far West is inexplicable as the question of why the Ku Klux Klan finds its most fertile ground in the South. Arizona and Oregon are as far apart as any two parts of our country can be in habits of thought and customs; but they are both in the Far West, one in the Southwest and the other in the Northwest.

THE CHURCH IN THE LIFE OF THE NATION.

The church may not be the only place where men may profitably spend Sunday. Of course, it is not. Nevertheless it is one of the very best places. It has been well tried. It has been knocked about badly by slackers and by enemies. It is the target for every fellow with a chip on his shoulder or a grudge in his system. It is too narrow for some, and too broad for others.

All this is perfectly natural—in fact, inevitable—since the church is based upon spiritual principles, which are admittedly difficult to fully understand, let alone to follow.

In spite of all this the church is a mighty force in the nation for keeping people toned up to high levels of thinking and acting. It has kept the affairs of the Moral Governor before the attention of the people. It has been the force behind the building of homes for orphans, unfortunates, deficient, demented, and aged. It has always been the backer, and often the starter of philanthropic enterprises. The church is easy to slam and hard to replace. Kick if you like; but you will be wiser and happier to back it.—Theodore Roosevelt.

WHY THEY CALL OURS A "SELF GOVERNMENT"

1902--Twenty Years Ago--1922

On Saturday the Antioch College football team came to Xenia to get revenge for the defeat administered to them by the High School boys at Yellow Springs early in the season. The game was early in the season. The game was forfeited to Xenia by the score of 6 to 0.

Republican rallies were held Saturday night at Yellow Springs, Jamestown and Spring Valley, splendid arguments being made at the places by some of the best speakers in the country.

The Cedarville College football team defeated the Springfield High School team last Saturday by a score of 5 to 0 on Cedarville grounds.

The closing races of the season were given by the Xenia Driving Club yesterday afternoon, and a large crowd was present at the fairgrounds and witnessed some splendid events.

HORSE RADISH BLEACH

Everyone knows that horse radish is the most effective complexion bleach yet very few know how it should be made. It sounds so dangerous to experiment with!

As a matter of fact it is perfectly simple. All you do is scrape a teaspoonful of horse radish into a cup of sour milk and let it stand six hours before you use it. It can stand longer, so if you do not use the entire cupful made bleach to the expensive and complicated preparations purchased ready made. Not all such preparations are to be trusted. Strong bleaches will dry the skin, many that are too strong will induce premature wrinkles. Honey, which is a splendid bleach and almond milk, which is both bleach and tonic are very good particularly in combination. Honey, of course must be well diluted because it is so sticky. Lemon juice is also splendid bleach but must be diluted for the face.

Discouraged—Stop the yeast cakes for a time and try other things for clearing the system. The best method is through a change in diet in which much of the starchy foods should be omitted and plenty of milk substituted.

Eat plenty green vegetables and fruit whole wheat bread and when taking cereals select those in which there is some ruffage.

Miss R. R. M.—Complete directions for coloring the hair with henna will consume too much space for printing at this time. Send a s. a. e. and have this information mailed to you.

Lillie—Bobbed hair has not lost its hold and there is every indication that it will remain in favor for a very long time to come.

Tomorrow—Misunderstood Feet.

URGES THAT MEN TAKE INTEREST IN BOYS OF LOCALITY

Urging that every man present interest himself in some boy, so that he might help him to better himself, John Dorst, general secretary of the Springfield Y. M. C. A. delivered an interesting address to 40 members of the Men's Club of the Presbyterian Church at a chicken dinner in the social rooms of the church Tuesday evening.

Mr. Dorst emphasized his words with a cross-section from his own life experiences, depicting his early life in the railroad shops, and the kindly influence given him by a man who became interested in him and eventually was instrumental in his entrance into Y. M. C. A. work.

Boys, whom no one is interested in, often follow criminal pursuits, the speaker pointed out, referring to similar instances in the day's news of youths gone wrong. The boy in whom some one is showing an interest, according to Mr. Dorst, is not likely to be found among these cases. The speaker explained the boys' work being done in Springfield especially the success resulting from the "Hi-Y" movement which is spreading there.

His reference, to the Y. M. C. A. situation here was but brief. According to Mr. Dorst the Y. M. C. A.

plant here before it was finally given up, was too elaborate. He made the suggestion that there should be some one, a boys' secretary perhaps, who would be interested in the boys and give all of his time to youthful activities and direct affairs of the young men. It would not be necessary to have a building for the purpose he said.

Mr. Dorst commended the Boy Scout work here and especially the work of Scoutmaster Leigh M. Nisbet. The chicken dinner was served in the social rooms of the church by the Ladies' Aid Society, Karl Bloom, president of the Men's Club, presiding at the meeting and introduced the speaker, whose heart-to-heart talk, was heartily applauded.

TO BEGIN SERIES OF STUDIES AT MEETING

The Rev. W. H. Tilford, pastor of the Presbyterian Church, will begin a service of studies on "The Book of Hebrews," at the regular prayer meeting Wednesday evening. The studies will be carried through each Wednesday prayer meeting until the book has been completed. The first study Wednesday will be introductory in nature.

MANY LIKE THIS IN XENIA

Similar Cases Being Published in Each Issue.

The following case is but one of many occurring daily in Xenia. It is an easy matter to verify it. You cannot ask for better proof.

J. F. Mellage, shoemaker, 426 W. Second St., Xenia, says: "My back throbbed and ached constantly. Every time I stooped the least bit I got a stab of pain through my back that felt just like a knife cut. When I bent it was hard to straighten again, my back was so knotted up. Mornings I dreaded to get up, I was so stiff and lame. I easily tired and soon became very weak. My kidneys were too free in action and I had to get up several times at night to pass the secretions. Doan's Kidney Pills were so highly praised that I got some. I used about six boxes when I was absolutely cured of the backache and my kidneys again became normal."

PORT WILLIAM

Quite an enjoyable time was spent Saturday afternoon and evening by the people in this vicinity at the annual fall festival. Quite a nice program was rendered.

The farmers are gathering their corn crop and report an extraordinary quality and also a large production.

The Port William football club played a lively and interesting game Friday afternoon.

Mr. H. D. Ellis of Dayton, Ohio, is making quite an improvement on his farm north of town. Mr. Ellis's farm originally belonged to his grandfather and is the oldest settlement in this neighborhood, the original settlement taking place in 1807. Mr. Ellis is remodeling the house and installing modern conveniences, including a Delco Lighting system, and a Duro Pumping System, he is also erecting a new barn, 46 by 59 feet. When finished it will be one of the most modern homes in this locality.

BOY SCOUT SHIELD OF LOCAL MASTER WINS ATTENTION

Leigh N. Nisbet, scoutmaster of the Xenia organization of Boy Scouts of America, addressed the Scoutmaster's Association of Dayton, at the first banquet of the year held by that organization at Loew's Dayton Theater headquarters, Monday evening.

Scoutmaster Nisbet addressed the gathering on the use of the new merit shields, a system devised by him for local Boy Scouts which has been gaining favor in Scout circles. He also demonstrated the shields and spoke of the local honorary society of Boy Scouts called the "Wigwags."

In the Scout organization merit badges are given to Scouts for excellence in certain branches of work. Mr. Nisbet decided to have each boy place these badges on a shield, substituting Indian Signs for the regular badges. He explains his plan as follows:

"I have always been interested in Indian lore and customs and knowing that the American Indians recorded their exploits on their teepee linings and knowing further that the average boy of today is always willing to wear scalps, so to speak, I thought that it would be a good idea to keep the boys' records in Indian style."

"When Troop One was mustered in about a year, every boy was instructed to furnish a circular disk about 17 inches in diameter of heavy cardboard. This disk was bordered in triangles of alternate colors, the colors being those of the patrol. The boy's name and patrol emblem were displayed prominently upon this 'War Shield' thus formed and it was hung on the club room wall."

"It was further stipulated that should the scout incur disgrace or anything of that nature, appropriate symbols would be placed on the shield as well as the achievement of which he can be proud. I firmly believe that this has been responsible in a measure for the good conduct of my troop as the boys are desperately afraid to have something on their shield to their discredit and it is needless to say that they are proud of the good things they have accomplished."

"In case one of the boys completely fills his shield we have made arrangement for a bar to be hung underneath it, the same color and just as wide as the diameter of the disk. This bar will be about four inches in width and when this is filled another can be added, and so on."

The plan was new to Scoutmasters and as a result of its success, the local organization is winning much publicity in scout circles.

Chapters From A Woman's Life

BY JANE PHELPS

CHAPTER 9

W had not been married long before I learned that little things, insignificant, to me, often made Walter cross and impatient. I was very careful that his meals should be well ordered and cooked, and daintily served. I paid great attention to my table, always having a fresh centerpiece of low-growing flowers. When first married had bought some tall blossoms, and he had been terribly annoyed, said a child would know better than to put stalks on a table as a decoration.

One day Grace Harter was with me when he flew up about something. She laughed, then said:

"Poor Doreen! You would martyr an artist's dear, and now you have to live with the artistic temperament. I should have married Walter myself but for that! We quarreled too often didn't we, Walter?"

"Seems to me I remember you did," he drawled.

"Well, you were impossible! Made love, Doreen, to every pretty girl or woman he saw. Once he left me standing in the street while he chased a girl because her hair happened to be a wonderful black. I was furious, wouldn't speak to him when he came back to me. He caught the girl though, got her to come to his studio and painted her."

I thought of the way he had found Helen Ralston, as she went gayly on:

"I tell you, Doreen, I don't envy you even if Walter is the handsomest man I know. He's delightful to flirt with; but God deliver me from living with him."

"Oh, shut up, Grace!" Walter broke in impatiently.

"Can't bear to hear himself called names, can he?" (Voice returned. "Some day I shall tell Doreen a lot of things I know about you, I'll have to spend the day with you, Doreen.")

"Do you know so much? I did not know you were so very intimate." I felt I disliked Grace more than ever. "Haven't I just told you I'd have" married him if he hadn't had so much temperance? It's the one thing I believe should be woman's perquisite. Men have no right to it."

Grace looked particularly charming that day; Walter had told her so at once.

"You hold your looks wonderfully, Grace! I'm almost tempted to ask you to sit for me once more."

"Thank you! I love to have my age hinted at. Soon you'll be telling me I'm 'well-preserved' or something equally obnoxious. By the way, Doreen, who did Walter buy that roadster for, you or his blonde model? I've never happened to see you in it with him but I've seen her several times."

Walter looked angrily at her, then again, told her to "shut up," adding: "Doreen doesn't understand your nonsense, Grace."

"You haven't answered my question, Doreen. I wasn't talking to you!" she saucily told Walter.

Walter figured, muttered: "God deliver us from our supposed friends," then settled back in his chair with a comical air of resignation, as I replied:

"Walter bought the car for our pleasure and for convenience, Grace. If he cares to run Miss Ralston home after she's been posing for hours, I don't see why I—or anyone else—should object." But as I said it I was torn with jealousy. She had seen them together often.

"That's the way to talk Doreen! Give it to her!" Walter said gleefully as he blew a cloud of smoke in Grace's direction.

"Walter must take you for a ride someday," I went quietly on. "The car rides beautifully. We're going to spend the day in the country Sunday, take our luncheon and stay all day."

"Oh, how lovely! Suppose George and I go too. We might take Claire Gordon along and have a real party."

"Great idea, Grace!" Walter answered. "We'll start about nine o'clock."

Chapters From A Woman's Life

CHAPTER 9

W had not been married long before I learned that little things, insignificant, to me often made Walter cross and impatient. I was very careful that his meals should be well ordered and cooked, and daintily served. I paid great attention to my table, always having a fresh centerpiece of low-growing flowers. When first married had bought some tall blossoms, and he had been terribly annoyed, said a child would know better than to put stalks on a table as a decoration.

One day Grace Harter was with me when he flew up about something. She laughed, then said:

"Poor Doreen! You would martyr an artist's dear, and now you have to live with the artistic temperament! I should have married Walter myself but for that! We quarreled too often didn't we Walter?"

"Seems to me I remember you did," he drawled.

"Well you were impossible! Made love, Doreen, to every pretty girl or woman he saw. Once he left me standing in the street while he chased a girl because her hair happened to be a wonderful black. I was furious, wouldn't speak to him when he came back to me. He caught the girl though, got her to come to his studio and painted her."

I thought of the way he had found Helen Ralstrom, as she went gayly on:

"I tell you, Doreen, I don't envy you even if Walter is the handsomest man I know. He's delightful to flirt with; but God deliver me from living with him!"

"Oh shut up, Grace!" Walter broke in impatiently.

"Can't bear to hear himself called names—can he?" Grace returned. "Some day I shall tell Doreen a lot of things I know about you, I'll have to spend the day with you, Doreen."

"Do you know so much? I did not know you were so very intimate." I felt I dislike Grace more than ever. "Haven't I just told you I'd have married him if he hadn't had so much temperment? It's the one thing I believe should be woman's perquisite. Men have no right to it."

Grace looked particularly charming that day; Walter had told her so at once.

"You hold your looks wonderfully, Grace! I'm almost tempted to ask you to sit for me once more."

"Thank you! I love to have my age hinted at. Soon you'll be telling me I'm 'well-preserved' or something equally obnoxious. By the way, Doreen, who did Walter buy that roadster for, you or his blonde model? I've never happened to see you in it with him but I've seen her several times."

Walter looked angrily at her, then again told her to "shut up," adding: "Doreen doesn't understand your nonsense, Grace."

"You haven't answered my question, Doreen. I wasn't talking to you!" she saucily told Walter.

Walter flinched, muttered: "God deliver us from our supposed friends," then settled back in his chair with a comical air of resignation, as I replied:

"Walter bought the car for our pleasure and for convenience, Grace. If he cares to run Miss Ralstrom home after she's been posing for hours, I don't see why I—or anyone else should object." But as I said it I was torn with jealousy. She had seen them together often.

"That's the way to talk Doreen! Give it to her!" Walter said gleefully as he blew a cloud of smoke in Grace's direction.

"Walter must take you for a ride someday," I went quietly on. "The car rides beautifully. We're going to spend the day in the country Sunday, take our luncheon and stay all day."

"Oh, how lovely! Suppose George and I go too. We might take Claire Gordon along and have a real party."

"Great idea, Grace!" Walter answered. "We'll start about nine o'clock."
